President Ready for Meeting With Canada, Mexico Chiefs

White Sulphur Springs Is Site For Conference

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — President Eisenhower pulled into town hours ahead of time for his good neighbor conference with Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada.

He arrived aboard a special train from Washington after a leisurely overnight ride, breakfasted aboard his private car and drove to the huge white Greenbrier Hotel about 45 minutes later. There in late afternoon he was due to be joined by the Canadian and Mexican leaders, flying in from their distant capitals.

The first thing the President did was to make a morning golf date with Sam Snead, the Greenbrier professional. A chill wind whipped across the fairways from the surrounding mountains, which got a light sprinkling of snow during the night.

About 150 persons were waiting at the railroad station to cheer Eisenhower on his arrival. Another 200 or so were assembled at the entrance to the hotel. The President responded to their applause with smiles and waves.

Both President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada arranged to fly to Charleston, W. Va., and ferry here in light planes suitable for landing at the smaller Greenbrier airport.

Diplomatic officials said the sole purpose of the gathering, which was Eisenhower's idea, is to afford neighboring talks among the three North American powers. No one could recall a precedent for such a three-way conference. The United States has many common interests with each of the other countries, but aside from a general interest in peace and hemispheric security there are no important issues of common concern to all three.

The series of talks will begin this evening. Other sessions are scheduled for tomorrow, winding up with dinner tomorrow evening. All three principals will leave Wednesday morning.

The conference is to be held in the Virginia wing of the huge 600-room Greenbrier Hotel. American officials said the usual conference table has been dispensed with. The principals, together with their advisers, will hold their talks, other than at mealtime, in the living room of the $250-a-day Presidential Suite.

Margaret Denies She Will Wear $650 Hose For Her Wedding

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Truman denied today that she will wear $650 stockings to her wedding.

Hollywood hosiery expert Willy De Mond had said she would.

"There is no truth in it and I would not accept them as a gift," Miss Truman commented.

"Sheer nonsense," a friend, Margaret Carson, added. "She is going to wear nice, plain stockings, just like any other girl would wear for her wedding."

Miss Truman is to marry newsman Clifton Daniel in Independence, Mo., on April 21.

De Mond's statement was made in Detroit, where he is on business. He said Miss Truman was getting three pairs of ultra sheer, 75-gauge hose, each to be decorated with 30 five-point diamond flecks.

Myer was found on the highway with his skull fractured and his back broken. His station wagon had overturned several times.

Pakistan Says 'No' to Reds' Latest Offer

President Mirza Declares His Nation Stands With West

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistani leaders in a reaffirmation of their ties with the West have sounded a ringing "no sale" to the neutrality overtures of Soviet Russia's traveling salesmen.

President Iskander Mirza told the new republic's National Assembly in its first session that Pakistan stands by the Baghdad and SEATO pacts in the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

Prime Minister Chaudri Mohammed Ali and visiting Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey in a joint communique praised the Baghdad Pact as "purely defensive and not directed against the national interest of any country."

Soviet Russia recently switched off its tirades against Pakistan and turned on the charm. Premier Nikolai Bulganin said Russia could give economic aid to Pakistan. Soviet publications made it clear that Pakistan to qualify would have to divorce itself from the Baghdad and SEATO pacts.

The Baghdad Pact includes Pakistan, Britain, Turkey, Iran and Iraq. The Southeast Asia pact includes Pakistan, Britain, the United States, France, Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand.

Soviet Secret Police Chief Shrugs Off British Accusations

LONDON (AP) — Gen. Ivan Serov, chief of the Soviet secret police, today shrugged off accusations of "butcher" and "murderer" appearing in British newspapers.

"I don't think the allegations made by newspaper correspondents are worthy of my attention," he told a reporter outside the Soviet Embassy. "They spoke without knowing the true facts."

Serov is in England to coordinate security arrangements with Scotland Yard for the April visit of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

The British press has been bitterly hostile to Serov's presence.

Minister Delivers His Sermon From Bed

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP) — The Rev. Wayne Caldwell, pastor of the Ottawa Wesleyan Methodist Church, conducted Palm Sunday services under unusual circumstances.

The minister woke up yesterday morning with a case of the mumps. It was too late to get a substitute minister, so a public address system was installed between the church and the pastor's house next door.

Speaking from his bed, Mr. Caldwell delivered his Palm Sunday sermon to an overflow congregation.

UN Council Will Consider Peace Mission

Lodge Is Expected To Introduce Idea This Afternoon

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. Security Council gathered today to take up a U. S. proposal that would send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a peace mission to the Middle East.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was expected to introduce such a resolution formally soon after the 11-nation council convened this afternoon at his request to discuss the potentially explosive situation along Israel's borders with her Arab neighbors—Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

The American resolution asks Hammarskjöld to undertake urgent discussion with all parties concerned and with the U. N. Palestine truce chief in Jerusalem, Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns. It asks him to arrange adoption of measures to "reduce existing tensions" along the armistice lines.

The big Western Powers had hoped that the resolution could be approved today. Hammarskjöld had intended to leave right after Easter for London, Paris and the Middle Eastern capitals. But Arab maneuvers over the weekend put this timetable in doubt.

Delegate Rafik Asha of Syria and Edward Rizk of Lebanon first informally requested postponement of today's meeting. Later, instead of following through with formal requests for postponement, they said they would ask permission to participate in the council debate without a vote. If the Arabs speak, so will Israel, and this will prolong the debate considerably.

The Lebanese government, meanwhile, announced it would ask the council to postpone further discussion for a month and then to permit all four of Israel's Arab neighbors to speak. But last night an Arab source said he understood the Lebanese delegate had not received any instructions to request a postponement.

The U. S. resolution requests Hammarskjöld to arrange particularly for withdrawal of the Israeli and Arab forces from the armistice lines, full freedom of movement for U. N. observers in border areas and local arrangements to prevent incidents and detect armistice violations.

The Lebanese government, meanwhile, announced it would ask the council to postpone further discussion for a month and then to permit all four of Israel's Arab neighbors to speak. But last night an Arab source said he understood the Lebanese delegate had not received any instructions to request a postponement.

Hosmer Files For Democratic Nomination

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — John Hosmer of Marshfield, Mo., 33-year-old prosecuting attorney of Webster County, filed today for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

His entrance makes it a three-way tussle for the Democratic nod. State Sen. Edward V. Long of Clarksville and former state Rep. Tom A. Shockley of Waynesville filed earlier.

Hosmer is serving his second term as prosecuting attorney in the usually Republican Webster County. He won the Democratic nomination for congressman in 1952 in the Seventh District but was defeated in the general election by veteran Rep. Dewey Short (R) of Galena.

A veteran of World War II, Hosmer grew up in Marshfield and attended Drury College in Springfield and the University of Missouri school of law in Columbia. He and Mrs. Melba Douthett Hosmer have six children. Mrs. Hosmer is a member of the Democratic State Committee.

Hosmer has been active in Democratic party and veterans' groups and is a member of the State Board of Governors of the Missouri Bar.

High Court Upholds 1954 Immunity Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld validity of the 1954 immunity law intended to compel witnesses to testify in national security cases.

The law provides that when a witness is reluctant to testify for fear of incriminating himself he may be directed by a federal judge to speak, with the assurance that he will be immune from later prosecution as a result of anything he might disclose.

After being promised immunity, the witness must testify or be punished for contempt.

Justice Frankfurter delivered the 7-2 decision. Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Black joined.

REA Will Build New Headquarters Building With $140,000 Loan

The Central Missouri Electric Cooperative Inc., today was approved for a $140,000 loan for construction of a new headquarters building, it was announced today by the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington.

United States Senators Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., and Stuart Symington and Congressman Morgan M. Moulder, notified The Democrat-Capital by telegram today of the approval. They also notified George W. Ray, manager of the CMEC, and its president, R. J. Behrens, of Mora.

The new building is scheduled to be built on an eight-acre tract a mile and a half north of Sedalia on Highway 65, which has been obtained from Clarence J. Wells on the east side of the highway.

Demos Back Symington As 'Favorite Son'

Houx, Warrensburg, Offers Resolution; No Dissenter Heard

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Democratic State Committee endorsed Sen. Stuart Symington today as a "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Not a dissenting vote was heard on the resolution presented by Ed Houx of Warrensburg.

The action does not mean that Missouri's 38 votes in the Democratic National Convention next August will be pledged to Symington. But Democratic leaders have expressed the hope the delegation will be bound by the state convention when it meets here May 28.

Mark R. Holloran, national committee man from Missouri, told the state committee Missouri would be in a favorable position at the Chicago convention to swing some weight for a favorite son candidate.

He said the state's 38 votes are the most Missouri ever had and would be the eighth largest delegation in the nation.

The resolution noted that Symington led the state ticket in 1952, piling up a majority of more than 150,000 while President Eisenhower was carrying Missouri by almost 30,000.

In other action today the state committee decided to allot a full vote in the national convention to former President Harry S. Truman, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly and Sens. Symington and Thomas C. Hennings.

Twenty-four delegates at large—12 men and 12 women—will get a half vote each, with 14 alternates for them. Each of the 11 congressional districts will send four delegates with one-half vote each and four district alternates.

District delegates will be chosen in caucuses the morning of May 28 before the state convention meets at noon that day to pick the delegates at large, presidential electors and a national committee man and committee woman.

The first, second and third district caucuses in St. Louis and the fourth and fifth in the Kansas City area will be held earlier at dates not yet fixed.

Altogether, Missouri will send 130 persons to the national convention as delegates or alternates—the maximum allowed for this state.

W. F. Daniels, state chairman, estimated delegates to the state convention would total 1,615 but other committee members pointed out the total might reach twice that size if all the alternates come to Jefferson City, too.

Missouri Republicans will hold their delegate selection convention at St. Louis June 23.

18 Persons Killed In Traffic Accidents

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 18 persons in Missouri last week, three less than the toll for the comparable week a year ago.

But for the month of March and the year to date the record is blacker, the State Highway Patrol reported today.

For the year so far, 223 persons have been killed in Missouri traffic accidents, 43 more than for the same period in 1955 and 21 more than for the same 25 days of March, 1955.

State Fair Will Be Held August 18-26

State Commissioner Of Agriculture Gives Official Dates

SEDALIA, Mo. — Saturday, Aug. 18 through 26 have been officially announced as dates for the 1956 Missouri State Fair by L. C. Carpenter, Commissioner of Agriculture and W. H. Ritzenthaler, secretary of the fair.

In announcing the fair dates, Carpenter emphasized that plans were well under way for a more varied program and bigger exhibits than last year when attendance exceeded the long sought goal of over a half million.

One of the biggest innovations in Missouri State Fair attractions was the recent signing of a giant ice show to be held in front of the grandstand on the first Sunday and through Thursday night of the fair. Plans are now underway for preparation of the special ice skating rink and lighting effects that are necessary for the production of the show.

The "Holiday on Ice" show is one of the largest and most widely acclaimed shows of its kind in the United States and according to Mr. Carpenter, "We are very fortunate in being able to secure this fine entertainment for the people of Missouri." Nearly a hundred performers present two hours of various skating events on a huge ice rink that measures 100 feet long and 60 feet wide. Many of the skaters were champions in amateur competition.

Many other new programs are being planned for this year's fair including motorcycle races on the opening Monday afternoon and the renewal of running horse races four afternoons of fair week.

The fair management announced that they are still striving to secure additional entertainment events but that most of the contracts for this year's program have already been signed. Within the next month it is anticipated that the complete program will be arranged. Harness racing, auto races, thrill shows, the horse show and the big Catin-Wilson carnival as many new shows have already been arranged for the big nine days of the "Show-Me" fair.

Running horse races will reappear on the Missouri State Fair track, with E. A. Duensing, Jefferson City, superintendent of the speed department.

The four day program starting Aug. 21, will be climaxed with a 1/4 mile Missouri derby on Thursday afternoon for a purse of $1000. According to Duensing, a number of fine stables have indicated that they will be present for the four day event.

Series of Explosions Breaks Sunday Calm In Illinois Town

EFFINGHAM, Ill., (AP) — A series of explosions in a propane storage tank depot, touched off when a dairy barn caught fire, shattered the Sunday morning quiet of Effingham.

Mrs. Bud Mansfield, whose home was closest to the blast, said the fire explosion shook her out of bed. There were no injuries and there was no livestock in the barn. Firemen confined their efforts to saving the Mansfield house.

Mrs. Viola Hill, who lives at the edge of Effingham, about one half mile from the scene, said "I thought we were being bombed."

The barn, filled with hay, was destroyed, as was a three-room cottage on the Mansfield place and its contents, including a number of riding saddles. Mrs. Mansfield estimated damage to her property at $20,000.

The tank depot, a unit of the Kramer Coal Co., was owned by Kenneth Kramer of Effingham. There was no assessment of the damage to the depot. Firemen said six metal propane tanks and a tank truck were destroyed.

Colder and Cloudy Weather Is Expected

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri's spring weather is due for a little modification.

It will be partly cloudy to cloudy and colder tonight and Tuesday with occasional rain likely in the extreme north Tuesday. After lows of 30-35 northeast to near 50 southwest, the mercury is expected to rise to the 40s in the northwest to the 50s in the southeast.

St. Joseph was the state's warm spot yesterday with 80 degrees. Joplin had the state's highest minimum this morning, a 64. Kirksville had 42 for low.

Unprecedented Move by British—Cypriots Go Back to Work After Unique 24-Hour Curfew

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The population of Cyprus went back to work as usual today after the British ended their unprecedented 24-hour curfew on the east Mediterranean island colony.

One killing and some minor violence were reported during the 4 a.m.-to-4 a.m. restriction the British ordered to prevent an outbreak yesterday on Greek Independence Day.

But with Cypriots free to roam the streets and countryside again, there was a fresh threat of violence from pro-Greek islanders seeking to get rid of their British colonial government. There were

4-Year-Old Boy Run Over by Tractor

CAPE GIRARDEAU (AP) — The four-year-old son of a Stoddard County farm family near Painton was run over by a tractor driven by his mother and injured fatally Saturday.

Robert Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, was riding on a tractor with his mother in a field. When she stopped to let him off, the boy fell and when she grabbed for him her foot slipped from the clutch. The tractor lunged forward and one of the rear wheels passed over the boy.

The boy's father also was plowing in the field. His parents rushed him to a hospital here where he died yesterday of internal injuries.

Action Starts Political Row Among Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Weeks refused today to give investigating senators confidential papers on East-West trade policy despite a statement by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) that "the chair orders and directs you" to hand them over.

Weeks' stand at a public hearing and Chairman McClellan's insistence on the information touched off a row between Democrats and Republicans on the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) protested what he termed "political persecution" of government officials and Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) called it "shocking" that McClellan should interrupt Weeks before the secretary could complete some answers.

Mundt said that if the hearing was to be a "political rally," he wanted a chance to make a "stump speech."

McClellan, banging his gavel, said there had been "uncalled for remarks." With sarcasm in his voice, he told Bender, "I'm sorry that my colleague is shocked."

Weeks, Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., and John B. Hollister, U. S. foreign aid chief, took turns in refusing to:

1. Give in a public hearing details of a 1954 agreement by free world nations to relax many of the embargoes and curbs on sale of strategic goods to Russia. They offered anew to give this information in a confidential closed door meeting.

2. Refused to give the subcommittee at all copies of working papers which served as guide lines to the U. S. negotiators at the 1954 Paris conference.

It was then that McClellan, with support from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), said, "the chair orders and directs you" to give the information.

Weeks came to the hearing with a prepared statement in which he said it was "inconsistent" for the subcommittee to insist on information that he said it had repeatedly done heretofore.

Nation's Living Costs Stay Same During February

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the nation's living costs remained unchanged in February from the January level.

Food prices declined a bit but costs of nearly everything else edged up.

The February index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics was three-tenths of one per cent higher this February than in February, 1955. The bureau's index was 114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average base period, the same level as in January.

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics commissioner said the outlook is that food prices are remaining steady but the prices of most other consumer items, except automobiles, are "creeping up."

Clague said that unless there is an unexpected decline in food prices, probable increases for other consumer items will carry the over-all living cost index up slightly in March.

Woman Fatally Hurt In Two-Car Wreck; Three Others Injured

CHAFFEE, Mo., (AP) — One woman was injured fatally and three other persons, including two children, were injured slightly in a street intersection collision here yesterday in which both cars overturned.

Her 14-month-old boy, William, had a slight head injury and was taken to the same hospital for observation.

The driver of the other car, Mrs. Kathleen Caul, received bruises and her eight-year-old daughter, Marilyn, had head injuries.

National Home Economics Week Observed by Students

By Bob Mason and Nancy Oswald

This past week Smith-Cotton High School observed National Home Economics week by displaying projects made by the Home Economics classes. Future Homemakers of America is a national organization for high school girls enrolled in these homemaking classes and the Smith-Cotton chapter is one of the most active in this area.

The national organization with the red rose as its flower and colors of red and white has for its motto, "Toward New Horizons" which expresses the purpose of the organization.

The Smith-Cotton chapter of Future Homemakers was organized in the fall of 1951 with Beverly Engstrom as president, with Mrs. Mary Maddox as chapter adviser, and Mrs. W. A. Korando as chapter mother. Since that time Jeanette Edmundson and Rosalie Moore have been presidents.

The local group is affiliated with Sub-District 5 of the West Central District of Missouri Area.

Four Persons Drown When Boat Sinks In Illinois Lake

MARION, Ill. (AP)—A father, his twin sons and a neighbor boy, all of Herrin, Ill., drowned when their boat sank in Crab Orchard Lake late Saturday.

The dead were Prince McSpadden, 44-year-old Herrin coal miner; his 10-year-old twin sons Rex and Lex; and Roy Woddis Jr., Jerry Sexton, 11, swam 250 feet to shore.

Young Sexton said the five were in a 16-foot boat. Trolleys were piled in the bow, and when the elder McSpadden started a motor the front end went under water. McSpadden yelled, "It looks like we are all going to drown together."

Authorities said the father could swim but apparently decided to stay with his sons, who could not.

Specialty Chickens Win

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Commercial broiler plants produce young poultry so efficiently that fryer production no longer is profitable for the average farmer, says D. J. Bray, University of Illinois poultry specialist.

The commercial broiler producer has a large volume of uniform birds available which command a higher price. On the other hand, market prices for farm fryers are low because there isn't a well established market for them. Buyers discriminate against them because they come in small numbers and vary in size and quality.

Veteran Stage And Screen Star Dies at Home

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—British actor Robert Newton, the wily, gravel-voiced Long John Silver of television and the movies, died at his home yesterday of a heart attack. He was 50.

Although he had had a heart ailment, his death was unexpected. His wife, the former publicist Vera Budnick, sobbed as she told a reporter:

"He was having a glass of water. He just keeled over. There was nothing anyone could do."

Newton returned to Hollywood last June after a year in Australia, where he made a film version of "Long John Silver" and filmed 26 half-hour television shows based on the character.

Only last year he said he intended to take out American citizenship. The veteran of stage, screen and television was one of the top character actors in the business, excelling in salty, slightly disreputable types. He first appeared in the United States in the mid-1920s. From 1947 through 1951 he was voted one of the top 10 money-makers in British films.

One of his best recent movie roles was as Androcles in "Androcles and the Lion."

He leaves three children: Kim, 18 months, by his fourth wife, Ver; Nicholas, 5, by his third wife, the former Natalie Newhouse of London, and a daughter, Sally, 24, by his first wife.

Aids Her Husband In Bandit Capture

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Ethel Clifford, 55, woke in the early morning hours and heard noises in a tavern below her apartment.

But she was unable to walk without the aid of a back brace and her husband was sleeping in another room. She picked up her bedside telephone and it was dead. The wires had been cut.

Mrs. Clifford was afraid to call her husband, but she finally woke him after painstakingly getting into the brace.

The rest was easy for Clifford, with one more assist from his wife. He held the thugs at gunpoint while she called police on another phone.

Russia Announces Air Routes Are Planned In Europe and Asia

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Russia—with a big new twin-jet airliner reported in mass production ahead of Britain and the United States—has launched a bold challenge for air routes in Europe and Asia.

The airliner is the TU104, the sleek plane which carried Soviet security chief Ivan Serov to London last week and created a sensation among Western aviation experts.

Marshal S. F. Zhavoronkov, chief of the Soviet civil airline Aeroflot, said the plane is in mass production and will be put into international rather than domestic service.

Negotiations already are under way with Norway, Sweden and Denmark on behalf of Scandinavian Airlines for reciprocal direct flights between Moscow and Stockholm and Copenhagen.

Other projected international Soviet routes would link Moscow with Peking, New Delhi and Kabul, Afghanistan. Zhavoronkov said Russia plans a direct Moscow-to-London jet service "if the traffic warrants it."

Farmer's Wife Nears Goal of 13 Children

POTEAU, Okla. (AP)—A 44-year-old Cartersville farmer's wife is nearing her goal of 13 children—the same as her mother had.

Mrs. Otis Self gave birth to her 12th child, Sharon Kay, this week. The mother, who was 15 years old when her first child was born, has three other girls and eight boys ranging in age from 3 to 29.

The Oklahoma farm wife said she is "just living like the Bible says and replenishing the earth."

Communists Act On Pro-Stalin Demonstrations

MOSCOW (AP)—Educators in Stalin's home state of Georgia have come under Communist party fire for failing to keep rebellious pro-Stalin youths in line.

The party action came after reported student demonstrations in Tiflis against the downgrading of Stalin.

A current issue of the Tiflis newspaper Dawn of the East told of a recent party meeting in Georgia at which V. Kupraze, rector of Tiflis University, and others were charged with failure to keep discipline.

Kupraze, who denied reports of student disturbances in Tiflis in a telephone conversation with The Associated Press Saturday, was hauled over the coals for not giving satisfactory explanations of shortcomings.

The party also rebuked one of Kupraze's professors, K. Targamaze, director of agriculture, for permitting "an extremely low state of discipline among students and neglecting party ideological work."

S. Makhardze, regional party secretary in Tiflis, was accused of "failures . . . in educating the broad masses, particularly youth."

The article indicated party concern over the reported demonstrations.

Authorities Continue Search for Identity Clues of Small Girl

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Authorities continued today to search for clues to the identity of a small girl whose body was found under a pile of stone in a remote area south of here Saturday.

Investigators, who estimated the victim's age as about 6, said no children have been reported missing in the vicinity. A doctor said she could have died six weeks ago.

Officers speculated that the child was either a murder victim or was accidentally killed then hidden. The child's body was fully clothed and wrapped in a sheet and bedspread.

Traffic Lesson

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Brought before Magistrate Margaret Young on a traffic violation, a motorist from a small northwest Missouri town startled the court by insisting that a red traffic light doesn't mean "stop" — only "caution."

What's more, in all his 40 years of driving he'd never thought otherwise, he said. The man paid a $15 fine and received a lengthy blackboard lecture from highway patrolmen.

"I never saw anything like it!"

Now you Know

The answer to everyday insurance problems?

by The Vans

ACCIDENT? OCCURRENCE?

QUESTION: What is the difference between "Accident" and "Occurrence" as the words are used in various insurance coverages?

ANSWER: The nation's courts themselves are not in complete agreement on what constitutes an accident. Insurance which covers "accidents" covers, roughly, something that is unforeseen and unintentional.

"Occurrence" coverage is best illustrated by the fact that your Comprehensive Personal Liability insurance would protect you if your dog bit someone although the bite certainly would not be accidental.

If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Legislative Committees To Continue

JEFFERSON CITY (Special) — At least three of the interim legislative committees ruled invalid by Attorney General John M. Dalton plan to carry on investigations in spite of the ban.

The house-senate committee on juvenile delinquency plans to carry on its work whether state funds are available for expenses or not.

Chosen as chairman of the committee last week was Sen. George Spencer (D-Columbia). Rep. Bill Turpin (D-Pike County) was named vice chairman. Members are Senators Spencer, J. F. Patterson (D-Caruthersville); John W. Joynt (D-St. Louis); Jack S. Curtis (R-Springfield); and Robert Linneman (R-St. Charles); and Representatives Jennie Chinn (D-Shelby County); Bernard Simcoe (D-Callaway County); Frank Kostrom (D-St. Louis); Joe Taylor (R-Newton County); and Turpin.

Senator Jack C. Jones (D-Carrollton) plans to challenge the attorney general's ruling which invalidated the legislative committees set up to work between sessions. State comptroller Newton Atterbury turned down Jones' $14 expense account for attending a meeting of the senate water resources committee held just before the start of the special session. Jones plans to file a writ of mandamus to force the state to pay those expenses. If the suit is filed, it will force a court ruling on the constitutionality of the interim committees.

The third committee, a joint committee on education problems of the state, announced that it would go ahead with its investigations in spite of Dalton's ruling.

Several new angles turned up during a tour of state institutions in the Jefferson City area by the house appropriations committee. At Lincoln university, Dr. Earl Dawson, acting president, pleaded for a $2,271,400 appropriation to build an auditorium, gymnasium and education building at the Jefferson City college. He pointed out that the state owed itself a first rate auditorium in Jefferson City which could be used by state agencies and organizations as well as the college.

During the tour of Alcoa intermediate reformatory, Rep. Joseph Martino (D-St. Louis), chairman of the appropriation committee, suggested that the state's new medium security prison could be built on the reformatory's 779 acres.

A bill in the senate hoppers to authorize the new medium security prison which would relieve crowded conditions at the main prison in Jefferson City. Just last week, Rep. Richard Ichord (D-Texas County) introduced a bill to provide $5,000 for the expenses of a commission which will choose the site for the new prison.

58 Appointments Made By Governor Donnelly Up for Confirmation

JEFFERSON CITY (Special) — Fifty-eight appointments and reappointments made by Governor Donnelly since the end of the last regular legislative session are up for confirmation by the senate. Included are Prison director James D. Carter and three members of the board of probation and parole. The parole board members, Lewis M. Means, Jefferson City, Ben Stewart, Cameron, and Elwood B. Robinson, Kirksville, are all former highway patrolmen.

Teachers' Association Holds Meeting

Community Teachers' Association of Sedalia met in the Smith-Cotton High School Little Theatre on Saturday, March 24th, at 9:30 a. m. with the president, Mrs. Anna Belle Lee, presiding over the business session.

Numerous committee reports were made including that of the nominating committee, headed by George Thompson, who read the slate of C. T. A. officers to be voted upon in May.

A collection was taken for aiding the University Women's foreign student project.

Following the business session the high school teachers adjourned to another location to hear Wallace Ramsey, School of Educators, University of Missouri, discuss "Reading on the Secondary Level" while the elementary teachers remained to see Miss Pannebacker, supervisor of Elementary Education in Marshall demonstrate two groups of reading in the sixth grade. The sixth grade children were from Broadway School in Sedalia, taught by Mrs. Estelle Ellis. Steps in teaching a new story in a reading class were shown to the observers and were discussed when possible. This was helpful for the teachers to see how other teachers perform the same functions in the classroom.

In speaking on "Reading on a Secondary Level" Mr. Rumsey said there is a revival of interest in reading nationwide but particularly in Illinois. In the range from the second grade to college level it is found that one out of ten to one out of four in any class reading difficulties are encountered. The possible causes for this, he said, is the high wartime birthrate, the same number of classrooms and semi-trained teachers. Youngsters need to practice reading skills at home, he said, and television is a problem.

To help he suggested that the children be grouped according to ability, individual teaching of skills, textbooks to match ability, assignments differentiated, audio-visual aids and every teacher a reading teacher, encourage the use of the dictionary, and each constant area teacher assume teaching of vocabulary in his field.

Students, Mr. Rumsey stated must have a purpose in reading, exactness of assignments. Each teacher should on Monday morning select difficult vocabulary, establish purposes for reading and use the supplementary materials for different abilities.

Three Fliers Killed, Fourth Is Missing In Plane Collision

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Three fliers were killed and a fourth is missing in the fiery collision of two Navy trainer planes over Baldwin County, Alabama, today.

The Pensacola Naval Air Station public information office said the planes were single-engine SNJ Texans from Saufley field, an auxiliary of the station. They were flying in formation.

Witnesses said one of the ships appeared to explode after the collision. The planes crashed about three miles apart and about five miles southeast of Loxley, Ala.

Slight damage resulted to two automobiles in a collision at Third and Kentucky about 3:35 p. m. Sunday. No injuries were reported.

Involved was a 1950 Mercury sedan driven by Mrs. Betty Dodson, 27, 239 East Saline, and a 1949 Ford tudor sedan driven by Orval J. Tindell, Jr., 19, of Tipton. Mrs. Dodson was going east on Third and Tindell was headed south on Kentucky.

The left rear fender on the Mercury and the front bumper on the Ford were damaged.

Farm Returns Are Basis For Tenancy

By C. R. Meeker, MU Extension Farm Management Specialist

When a whole farm is leased, the tenant's and landlord's returns should be worked out or based on returns for the farm as a whole. The job is to take the total income from a farm and decide the share or amount that was earned by the tenant's labor, tractor, seed, etc. Then decide the share that was earned by the landlord's land, buildings, ponds, etc.

We have already pointed out that for simple practices such as fertilizer use, best results are obtained when returns and costs are shared in the same proportions.

As a tenant we are willing to pay two-thirds of the cost of fertilizer if we get two-thirds of the crop, or we are willing as a landlord to build a building or a pond, if we are paid a return on the investment. As a general guide on the whole farm business, we can say that the share of the returns to each party should be in proportion to the expenses or the value of the services furnished by each. As a tenant, we don't want to pay toward some item that does not have any earning power for the farm business.

We can compute or calculate these quantities on nearly any kind of a farm lease or rental agreement including father and son agreements. If we found that the tenant was furnishing two-thirds of the total expenses and was getting one-half the return, then that rental would be out of line.

There is bound to be some bargaining in setting up leases and there are good reasons for this on the part of the landlords and tenants. We want the rent to be fair and we also are looking at the total income to be divided.

Let's look at a method of calculating shares. There's a table on the back of "Your Farm Lease", a publication of the USDA available in your county agent's office.

Buildings should be valued only on their earning power or income production to the farm. They should not be valued on their actual cost if that is out of line. Livestock items are used only in livestock share leases.

In crop shares leases, count only labor used on crop production.

Although accurate estimates cannot be made for all items, a full consideration of all items by the landlord and tenant working together should go a long way in helping to decide —

1. Satisfactory rental terms.
2. High income production for the farm business.

It's hard to figure the value of risk and management. But if we do this job of checking contributions, then some further adjustments may be made for these two items.

Applications For Wool Pay Are Due May 1

Wool growers are reminded to get their applications for payment under the wool program in the mail before May 1, 1956, if they want to get their incentive payment this year. The reminder comes from Murray C. Colbert, chairman of the Missouri Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

According to the chairman, wool sales made after March 31, 1955, and before April 1, 1956, are eligible for payment this year provided the application for payment with the necessary supporting information is in the mail before May 1.

Wool growers are urged to be especially careful about providing the required sales record when submitting applications. The sales record for shorn wool must show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal deductions.

Those who market lambs and yearlings for slaughter must provide bill of sale with name and address of slaughterer; date of sale; name and address of seller; and number, description, and net live weight of animals sold. They also must certify that the animals were purchased for slaughter, and that they had or had not been shorn at the time of sale. Thirty-day ownership is required to be eligible for payment.

Dry Weather Promises Big Grasshopper Year

Extension entomologists at the University say that many counties of Missouri went into the winter with a relatively heavy carryover of grasshoppers. According to the specialists, the amount of hopper trouble we will have during the spring and summer will largely depend upon the weather. If it's dry year, we can expect trouble. If the spring is wet and cold and there's adequate rainfall throughout the summer, damage could be light. Although nearly every county has enough carry over to be troublesome, the entomologists believe counties in the western half of the state will be the most heavily infested.

Eye experts say that most people have only about 1 per cent of what they see conveyed to their brains, a condition which can be remedied by training.

Proper Nitrogen Topping Can Increase Your Wheat Yields

By C. M. Christy
MU Extension Soils Specialist

You may be able to boost your wheat yields by putting on a nitrogen top dressing within the next few weeks. Also, quality of the grain may be improved if the nitrogen is applied very soon.

Wheat will make a better response to an application of nitrogen applied now if the supply of other minerals is adequate. The essential mineral nutrients supplied with limestone, phosphate, and pot-

Gardens Need To Have Right Fertilization

By ARTHUR E. GAUS
MU Extension Horticulturist

Proper fertilization of garden soils is important. Too frequently, soils which are planted to gardens for the first time are deficient in one or more essential fertility elements. On the other hand, some soils which have been planted to gardens for several years have too much fertility. Other garden soils are simply out of balance with respect to fertility elements—a little too much of one element, perhaps not quite enough of another. When any of these conditions exist, you can expect lower yields, lower quality, or even total failure of certain crops.

In general, vegetable crops require a rather high level of soil fertility. In order to obtain good yields of high quality vegetables, you must provide for rapid and continuous growth. To accomplish this, you need a high level of the more stable elements such as phosphorus, potassium, calcium and magnesium. Before you even consider planting a vegetable, find out how you stand with regard to these desired fertility levels, to do this is to have a soil test made. When your county extension agent sends the soil test report back he will recommend what kinds and how much fertilizer you will need to apply to your soil to bring it up to the basic level desired for all vegetables.

Barnyard and poultry manure are good soil amendments, not only from the standpoint of fertility, but also because a considerable amount of organic matter is added to the soil. However, use barnyard or poultry manure properly or it can cause trouble. These types of manures are best applied in the fall of the year and plowed under. In this way, soil can reach an equilibrium again by planting time in the spring. Barnyard manure is most valuable on new garden sites where both the fertility and organic content of the soils are usually low. Do not use too much barnyard or poultry manure on soils which have been planted to a garden for a number of years and is perhaps high in fertility. Green manure crops are best used to maintain the organic matter content of these high fertility garden soils.

A starter application of some mixed fertilizer at planting or transplanting time helps vegetables get off to a much better start. Apply a mixed fertilizer containing a relatively high amount of phosphorus in relation to nitrogen and potash. A fertilizer such as an 8-24-8 is a good example as it contains three times as much phosphorus as nitrogen or potash. It is also generally available over the state. Use this 8-24-8 fertilizer at the rate of one pound per 50 feet of row in a band as you sow your seed or transplant your plants into your garden. Be sure to keep the fertilizer at least three inches from the seed or transplant to prevent burning of the root system.

The increases in U.S. population from April 1, 1950 to Oct. 1, 1955 was about equal to the population of New York State on July 1, 1954.

Although aged people have more long illnesses, they have fewer short illnesses than younger people.

Laying Flock Should Get Lice Check

Check the laying flock frequently for lice, is the suggestion of County Agent Merle Vaughn. Frequently the lice population builds up in the laying flock and causes considerable difficulty before the producer realizes it. He points out that lice are usually on birds when the owner or caretaker gives the flock a minimum amount of attention and handling.

Agent Vaughn suggests picking up a few birds frequently and checking to see if lice are present. The most heavily infested area is around the vent and along the feather tracts on the thigh. Infected birds are constantly picking their feathers, and as more lice appear, the bird's plumage becomes soiled. It is not unusual to find masses of eggs glueing several feathers together at their base, particularly near the vent, on the thighs, or near the oil gland.

This constant irritation reduces feed consumption, loss in weight and egg production. The lice population builds up very rapidly.

Lice are easy to control in the poultry flock with modern insecticides. The use of 2 tablespoons of 25 percent lindane emulsifiable concentrate in 1 pint of water is recommended. Apply this mixture immediately to the roost using a small paint brush. A pint of the mixture will treat about 125 to 150 feet of roost. In larger poultry houses the mixture can be sprayed on the roost.

This treatment is most effective when outside temperatures are above 40 degrees F. for a two successive nights. The lindane vaporizes when the hens are on the roost and kills the lice on the birds. The treatment should be repeated every three months until all symptoms of lice are gone. This treatment is so simple to use and so inexpensive that there is no excuse for lice in any poultry flock.

Helping Garden With Irrigation Spells Success

The success of a vegetable garden often depends upon the individual's willingness to help nature supply needed items. And University of Missouri horticulturists say this is particularly true when it comes to garden irrigation.

In some Missouri areas a shortage of water rules out irrigation. In these instances, gardeners can save soil moisture by fall plowing, by using mulches and by timely seeding to avoid the dry months of July and August.

However, where water is available irrigation can be used successfully. With the development of good farm ponds and low-price pumping units, many gardens are getting the benefits of irrigation. The horticulturists say that during a dry year proper irrigation can do more to assure a good garden than any other cultural practice.

Don't consider irrigation as an emergency measure to save a crop. A study of major garden problems the past five years shows that most garden failures are due to a lack of moisture. Even when irrigation was tried, in many cases the gardener applied too little water too late.

Only minor differences have been found among vegetable varieties in their ability to tolerate moisture deficiencies. No vegetable should be considered drought resistant.

According to the garden specialists, soil moisture in the garden should be checked twice weekly to determine when to irrigate. On-the-spot moisture measurements at different depths are the surest way of getting the water on in time. Wilting of plants is a poor guide and is likely to result in considerable damage before water is applied.

Special care to check your home-made labor saving equipment for accident hazards.

Terracing Meeting Complete

The terracing meeting held at George Andersons last Tuesday covered 12 different phases of terrace layout and construction. First discussed was setting up the terracing level with two legs pointing down hill. Preliminary leveling is done with the legs and only the final part with the leveling screws.

Folks were then shown how to release the top of the level by the removal of three screws to check for accuracy. The telescope was aimed on a target 100 feet away and then turned over and reaimed. Both levels used were in complete adjustment. If when the level was turned over it pointed above or below the target, one half of that difference would have needed to be corrected by adjusting screws in the top and bottom of one end of the telescope.

Find Top of Hill

The next step was to find the top of the hill. This was done by setting the level up near the top and then moving the target around to find the lowest reading on the rod. That reading was recorded as was one a hundred feet straight down the hill. The difference between the two was five feet so the slope was five per cent.

According to the terracing table on a 5 per cent slope the terrace should have a 4-foot vertical interval and be about 85 feet apart. The pasture on which we were working was just below the barn and George wanted some of the water to be terraced into a pond in an adjoining pasture. Because of that he asked that the first terrace which caught the drainage from the barn lot be taken in the direction away from the pond and turned into an abandoned and grassed over lane. The other terraces were staked into the pasture. The slope is checked below each terrace and then the table is used to find the proper interval. With Probably less than half of the terraces in Pettis County at the present time are wide enough to hold six rows of corn.

Such wide terraces are easy to work across with a combine, drill and other farm implements. Usually terraces that are called too high

Those Sedalians who worry about disastrous consequences to the world from unregulated nuclear explosions have probably been disturbed, too, about what they have read and heard concerning warming up of the northern hemisphere and what's going to happen when all the Arctic ice melts.

Recently a Knife and Fork Club speaker reemphasized reports northern glaciers are receding an inch or more a year because of climatic changes, thus bringing increasing warmth to the temperate zone. Open winters the past few years may have strengthened that conclusion. Melting of glacier ice is supposed to raise the continental water lines, submerge islands, and bring about penetration by water again of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys.

The peninsula of Florida will be under several feet of water. If any high places are poking into the air they will become islands in a steaming tropical zone, whereas these land masses are now havens of rest and relaxation and moderate warmth for tourists from the snow-bound areas of northern United States and Canada.

In sharp contradiction to the receding glacier theory is the current weather in frigid New England and the chilling blasts which have swooped down south as far as Miami. This unnatural phenomenon surely cannot be attributed to melting ice above the Arctic Circle. Florida frost in January, yes, but in late March, what a calamity to those who saved up a couple of hundred bucks to trade off for a vacation and a winter tan!

The night after Spring was ushered in, Floridians and the migrants from the north slept under blankets, built fires in fire places, turned on electric heating stoves and reflectors until there was no juice left sufficient to toast a few slices of bread for breakfast.

Even so, a hot sun breaks through lags in the chill breezes from the north. However, beaches are deserted early in the afternoon. Weather is the main topic of conversation, particularly among the real estate dealers who insist this low temperature in Florida can't last another day—after five days of it. Thousands who planned to return to their northern homes were caught in the middle of a dilemma when news burst upon them of blizzards in the home town—the worst in 40 years.

At least the current cold wave in Florida is some assurance this vacation land is not going to be affected by receding glaciers making this area into a steaming tropic or, worse, covering it with water. Fort Lauderdale couldn't stand much of a raise because it's only seven feet above ocean level now.

If the glaciers don't recede any faster than the hair line on a middle aged balding dome, then there is some hope that all those now living may continue to leave the northern climes occasionally for an enjoyable vacation to acquire a sun tan in sunny Florida, no matter how frosty it gets down there.

Kefauver Still Has Long Row to Hoe

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Tennessee's Estes Kefauver still has a long hard row to hoe in his one-man campaign to take the Democratic presidential nomination away from ex-Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Following his primary victories in New Hampshire and Minnesota, Kefauver is entered in nine other state preference races. If he should win them all in a clean sweep—which his enthusiastic followers are considering—he would have 275 pledged delegate votes for the first ballot at the Democratic convention in August.

Senator Kefauver is of course counting on picking up stray and unpledged delegates in other states to build him up.

But with 1,372 convention votes allocated to the states for this Chicago spectacular, 686½ are needed to win.

Kefauver must therefore more than double his most optimistic total before he can ever come close to copying the nomination from the Democratic party bosses who want to stop him.

Kefauver and his managers are therefore taking a close look at entering four more primaries. They are:

May 8—Indiana—deadline for filing March 29.
May 15—Nebraska—deadline for filing April 5.
June 5—Montana—deadline for filing April 26.
June 5—South Dakota—deadline for filing May 6.

The first three are preference primaries—mere popularity contests. South Dakota's primary is to elect convention delegates. But only 62 convention votes are involved in these four races—Indiana 26, Nebraska 12, Montana 16, South Dakota eight.

If Kefauver could win all these races on top of the others in which he is now entered, he would still have only 337 convention votes—just under half of what it takes.

In 1952 Senator Kefauver had 340 convention votes on the first ballot. Gov. Stevenson had 273 and Senator Russell 268. The Democratic machine dumped Kefauver in spite of this showing.

But the senator's supporters now figure the convention won't dare do that again.

Senator Kefauver will be in direct competition with Gov. Stevenson in only three of his remaining primaries—California, Florida and Alaska.

In New Jersey the Democratic organization slate of delegates is lined up to support Gov. Robert B. Meyner as favorite son, but they are expected to switch to Stevenson.

The schedule of these primaries lines up as follows: April 3—Wisconsin—elect delegates for 28 convention votes. April 17—New Jersey—elect delegates for 36 convention votes. April 24—Alaska—preference primary, six convention votes. May 1—District of Columbia—elect delegates for six convention votes. May 7—Maryland—preference primary, 18 convention votes. May 29—Florida—elect delegates for 28 convention votes. June 5—California—elect delegates for 68 convention votes.

Senator Kefauver is also counting on the 32 votes from his native Tennessee which has a nominating primary on August 2. He also expects 16 from Oregon, which has a wide-open preference primary on May 18, the high man getting a bound delegation.

Senator Kefauver campaigned in seven states from New Hampshire to California. He shook nobody knows how many thousands of hands, made 12 major speeches, three national radio and television appearances, and countless short talks. This was in addition to zipping back to Washington for Senate votes.

His tentative schedule for April will take him to 10 states from Florida to Oregon.

As a demon traveler, he beats even John Foster Dulles.

Tax Cuts, Willy-Nilly

That seasoned old realist, Senator George of Georgia, has pronounced what is probably the wisest word that has been heard on taxes in many a month.

He predicts that in 1956 Congress will cut taxes "whether one approves of it or not." This, of course, is election-year wisdom from a man who has seen the political parade for a long time.

What he is telling us is that the compulsion working on congressmen in such a year are simple ones that relate to their judgment of campaign necessities.

To go to the voters without a fresh tax cut to offer is to a politician almost as foolhardy as striking out across the desert without an adequate supply of water.

The delicate arguments of the financial wizards do not govern their thinking. Thus it is actually of secondary importance that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey now believes that federal finances may be in condition to justify a tax reduction next year.

Not too long back Humphrey voiced serious doubt that the government's ledger would be in such favorable shape by 1956. He was looking for a deficit somewhere around 2.4 billion dollars. Today he sees that deficit prospect as only 1.7 billion dollars.

That smaller sum could be wiped out entirely, the secretary thinks, if continued prosperity brings in unexpected additional revenues and if the various government departments can trim their expenses 3 per cent.

The result would be a balanced budget—an administration goal since the presidential campaign of 1952. Under these circumstances, Humphrey would urge cuts in both personal and corporate income taxes, presumably of a size that would not once more unbalance the budget.

All this sounds pretty neat and logical, if it should work out as Humphrey foresees. But, as noted at the outset, the gentlemen who will be running for office in 1956 will not require the support of either logic or wisdom to convince them it is proper to cut taxes.

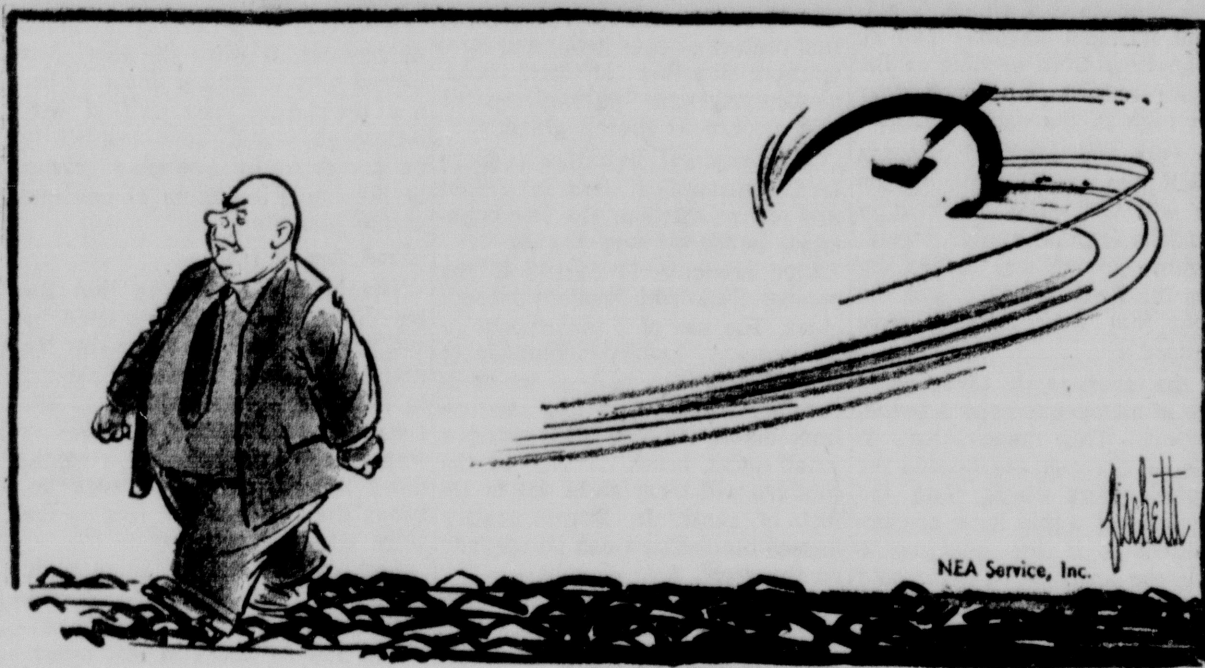

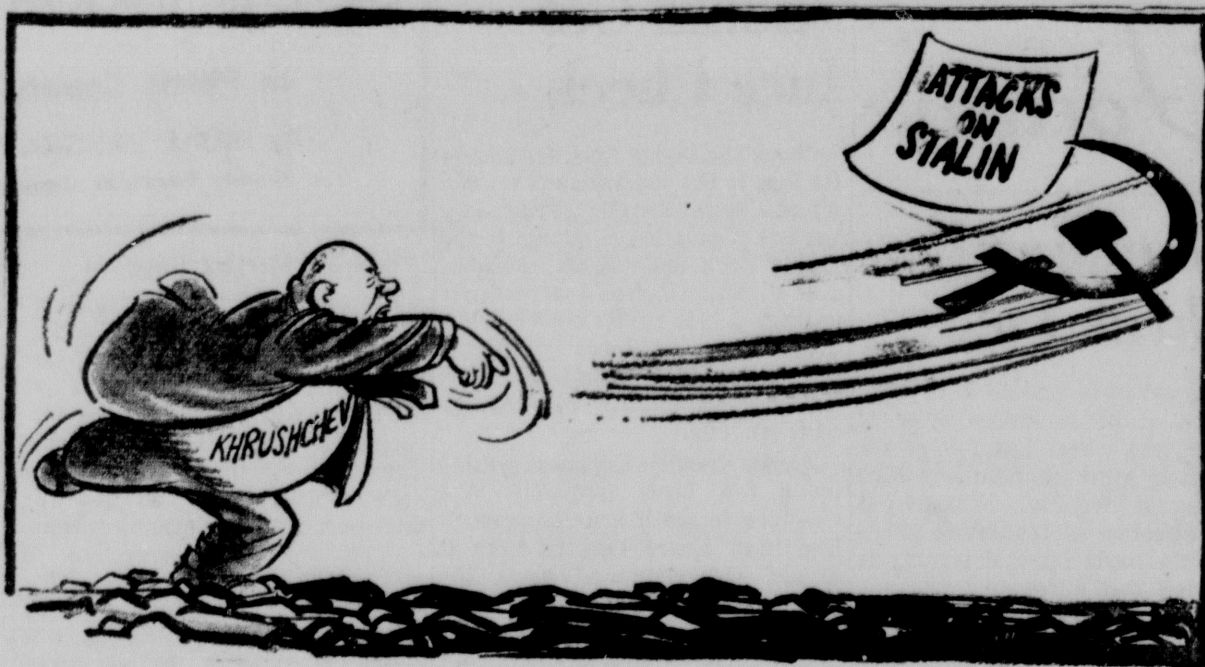

They live in a world where logic and wisdom intervene only occasionally. They live by political rules and axioms of long standing. To follow them means, they believe, survival. To flout them they are quite sure spells oblivion.

Demo Leaders in Congress Are Spurned

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee has just told the Democratic leaders in Congress, in effect, they're not doing enough to build a record for the party against the Republicans in this campaign year.

Paul M. Butler, committee chairman and therefore the party's pilot in the campaign, has written to some congressional Democrats a letter which he said reflects the committee's wishes.

It went to the two Texans who are the Democrats' leaders in House and Senate—Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate—and to some others.

It was this kind of letter: If you don't put up, we may have to shut up. If this was even intended to be strictly intraparty, private correspondence it didn't remain so. The letter became public over the weekend.

The Democrats have been accusing the Eisenhower administration of the giveaway of natural resources ever since the middle of 1953 when the Republican-run Congress gave the oil-rich submerged lands to the states.

That was not entirely a Republican performance. And the Democrats don't seem to be saying much about it now although they said plenty at the time. Some of them did, that is, Johnson and Rayburn voted for it. So did many other Democrats.

The Democrats have been running Congress since the beginning of 1955. With the Republicans in control of the White House and the executive branch of the government, the Democrats naturally look to their leaders in Congress to set a party record for the next election and point up, if not create, the issues.

This would be expected in the field of natural resources since the Democrats have been banging away at the Republicans on the "giveaway" theme for years. But in his letter Butler wrote:

"I am fearful that our party and its nominees for president, vice president, the Senate and the House next fall may be in a very weak position on the area of natural resources unless some action is taken to bolster our legislative record in this session of Congress"

Being thus told he's not handling the leadership of the House right may simply anger Rayburn, an old professional in politics. A nudge like this from his own party may pain Johnson, who seems to be growing increasingly sensitive to criticism.

Television May Be New Angle In Eternal Love Triangle

Through the ages some wives have found they couldn't compete with other women for their husbands' attention.

Some have found they couldn't compete with business, some were no match for a man's love of adventure and boredom with routine.

And now, perhaps, wives have a new rival for their husbands' attention.

In Los Angeles a wife was recently granted a divorce on her charge that her husband had no time for her because he spent all of his time at home watching TV.

"He watched TV constantly," she told the judge. "I begged him to pay some attention to me, but when the set was on, I was forgotten."

"He spent so much time watching that he had no time to change his clothes. He even fell asleep watching TV. It was as if his life depended on it."

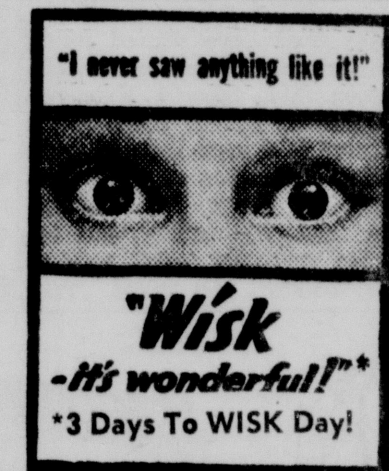

To be sure, that's an extreme case. But judging from my mail a lot of wives are beginning to look on the TV set as a powerful rival for their husband's time and attention.

"He never wants to go anywhere any more," they say. "He seems perfectly happy just sitting at home watching TV every night, and if I try to talk to him he gets annoyed."

Life In A Man's World Beckons Female Enlistee

By Esher Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON — When a young woman finishes her schooling, whether high school or college, and starts looking around for an interesting job until the right man comes along to marry she seldom puts on her list "a career in the Armed Forces."

That's too bad for the girl and her country say some 43 dedicated women meeting in Washington conferring with top military and Government brass.

These 43, known officially as the Defense Advisory Committee on Women to the Department of Defense, include educators, doctors, business executives, civic leaders. They are determined young American women will not overlook the well-paying, rewarding, "so different" jobs waiting for the girl who dons the uniform of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps.

So the mighty 43 rolled up their sleeves and went to work to find a way to spread the good word. They located a professional woman writer, Mrs. Helen J. Robinson who had written a lot of "occupation-for-women" copy for a national magazine. (She was put on the payroll of The Woman's Bureau of Department of Labor.)

Mrs. Robinson did what reporters call a "leg job" and hiked around the country talking to women already in uniform. Today, she is so enthusiastic she talks of little else!

The net result is an attractive booklet called "Careers for Women in the Armed Forces" and it's unlike any recruiting literature yet ground out by the military. "It's no snow job," said Mrs. Robinson who put in the bad along with the good features. Flatly she writes, "It's hard work." And there's discipline. "The girl must go where she is sent and do what she is told." And if allergic to change it's not for her.

But these are some advantages stressed: Equal pay and rank. Free food and shelter. Good pay. Free medical care. Retirement pay. $10,000 worth of insurance. 30 day annual vacation. More education. Travel. Adventure. "Sense of Dedication." Adventure. Certain Glamor. "Not a job but way of life." Ready-made social life. Life in a man's world.

Some are: personnel experts. Accountants. Finance officers. Experts "in supply." Teletype and radio operators. Communication officers. Dentists. Dental assistants. Pharmacists. X-Ray technicians. Weather observers and forecasters. Control tower operators. Inspectors of weapons. Intelligence officers, if she can keep a secret. Auto drivers and food specialists.

And her uniform may be a ticket to faraway places.

Thinking It Over

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D.D.
There were a lot of opportunists in Jerusalem when Jesus made His final entry into the city.

Merchants or racketeers with no interest in the religious significance of the Passover brought their so-called sacrifices to sell to indifferent worshippers. The sales-folk moved within the temple itself to sell their goods.

The casual worshippers had brought nothing from their own worldly goods to sacrifice in the symbolic service of giving. They paused in the foyer of the temple to purchase commercial sacrifices which meant nothing.

Jesus walked into the temple on the Monday of Holy Week and saw the mockery and shame which was being made of religion. With a fearless sweep of His strong carpenter's arm, He overthrew the traders' tables and drove both the racketeers and the insincere buyers from the house of worship.

"My house shall be a house of prayer," He said. "Ye have made it a den of robbers." Both those who bought and those who sold were robbing the temple of its holiness and of its religious significance.

We must not rob our worship of its spiritual significance by making a mockery of prayer. We must pray to God and not to impress men. We must suffer of ourselves, and not try to buy a bit of religion in the same way that we buy our worldly pleasures.

MEXICO (MO.) LEDGER: Do You Elect A President.—Do you elect the President of the United States?

Yes and no.
Your vote helps elect one of the candidates of the two great political parties, to the presidency. But you don't have much to say about who those candidates will be. Nor does your vote count equally with that of another citizen in another state. For example, the voter in New York state has 15-times as much vote power as the voter in Delaware. That's because of our button-shoe and hoop-skirt electoral system.

To have more pure democracy in our presidential elections, the total votes of all voters in all states would elect the winner. Right now, it is perfectly possible for the candidate with the smaller total vote, but the greater electoral vote, to win. And that's not right.

Adlai Gallops Back for Race In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is coming galloping into California this week on the heels of rapid-running Estes Kefauver in their race for the state's 68 Democratic presidential delegate votes.

Sen. Kefauver arrived in San Francisco last Thursday and today enters the fourth day of strenuous campaigning in southern California. He'll be in these parts until tomorrow night.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee who last week lost resoundingly to Kefauver in Minnesota, evidently decided it was high time he visited California again. His Chicago headquarters announced unexpectedly that he will fly here for conferences with campaign workers and appearances Wednesday and Thursday in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

A spokesman for Kefauver said the senator was aware of the Stevenson-California plans but was not commenting.

Kefauver has been hot-footing it around Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties to women's breakfasts, club luncheons, party workers assemblies, garden parties, a postal workers meeting, labor group sessions and dedication of a high school.

He said yesterday on the NBC TV program Youth Wants to Know that he believes "everyone will have a chance" at a "fair, open convention."

He said "there were some influential people who used their power against me" in 1952 but he has been assured these pressures wouldn't be used this time. Subject to later approval by both the Senate and the House, the five senators and five representatives will decide between rigid and flexible price supports, means of determining parity prices, provision of the soil bank plan and other regulations governing farmers' actions this year.

Benson was to have discussed various provisions of the Senate bill with committee members, but Cooley said he wanted to head off "any more propagandizing" by Benson.

Instead, Cooley said, he would ask for Benson's views in writing. Cooley said he acted after a

Senate Group Takes Over Task On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate House conference committee takes over today the task of rewriting the election year farm bill.

Subject to later approval by both the Senate and the House, the five senators and five representatives will decide between rigid and flexible price supports, means of determining parity prices, provision of the soil bank plan and other regulations governing farmers' actions this year.

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito said goodbye to his college classmates at graduation ceremonies today.

The 22-year-old prince completed four years of study at Gakushuin University but did not receive a diploma. He missed six months of his regular studies during a 1953 tour of Europe and America. Since then he has been enrolled as a special student.

news story quoted Benson that his meeting with the House group would give him a chance for further "missionary work" on the farm bill.

Most Missouri Farm Income Comes From Sale of Livestock

Some 75 per cent of Missouri's farm income comes from the sale of livestock and livestock products. Bill Pugh, extension livestock specialist for the University of Missouri, says this indicates how important it is for Missouri farmers to use good livestock production practices.

In a cow and calf enterprise, the first goal should be to improve calf quality. And the use of a good bull is a big step in the right direction.

Selling prices at Missouri feeder calf sales show what quality in calves can mean. One 400-pound calf brings $100. Another 400-pound calf brings $55. The $45 difference in price is due to quality. It would take two of the poor quality calves to equal the value of the one good quality calf.

The livestock specialist says that early calves can also help boost farm income. Good quality January and February calves weigh more at weaning time than later calves and, therefore, bring more money. These early calves cost very little more to produce.

If fed out, these early calves take less grain to finish because of their size when started.

Other practices recommended by the specialist include early dehorning and castrating, control of flies and lice, vaccinating against blackleg and control of Bangs disease.

Missouri Farmer Has Success With Wheat, Lespedeza Pasture

A Missouri farmer used 40 acres of combination wheat and lespedeza pasture to carry 110 cows and yearlings off and on throughout the grazing season last year. R. A. Thurlo, of Sullivan County, says that during the 1955 season his yearlings gained 430 pounds in 200 days on wheat and lespedeza pasture.

Thurlo uses this combination year after year. He seeds his wheat early in the fall and depends upon a volunteer stand of lespedeza.

Group Habits Have Effect On Accidents

The Missouri Highway Patrol says that group habits are a definite factor in causing traffic accidents. Because of the nature of your daily farm work, the following situations are likely to cause you trouble.

1. Driving on to or across highway from side roads or farm lanes.

2. Lack of attention to driving because of interest in other farms, livestock, and crops.

3. Walking on or across a highway to other parts of the farm or to the mailbox.

4. Railroad grade crossings on farm lanes and rural roads.

While driving about on your farm you stop and start as you please without danger from other traffic. You may become accustomed to driving in this manner on your property and on country lanes. Then it's easy to forget proper precautions when driving on busy highways. Check both ways carefully before pulling on to a busy highway. It's much safer to wait a few seconds and let those approaching cars go by.

It's nice to see what your neighbors are doing, but as your eyes wander, your car is apt to do the same. Walking on or across a highway is dangerous anytime, but it's especially dangerous if you start reading the paper on your return trip from the mailbox.

And finally, trains usually run on schedule. But it's that train that's

There Are Several Advantages in Keeping Your Flocks Confined

Extension poultry specialists say that flockowners that sell eggs on a graded market are confining their hens the year around.

There are several advantages in keeping the flock confined. In the first place, eggs from confined flocks have a more uniform yolk color. Many graded markets have to grade down dark yolks to meet requirements for their egg packs.

It's easier to produce clean eggs when birds are confined. The poultry specialists say that in tests conducted in Missouri, 17 per cent running late or the special train that causes the fatal accidents on rural crossings.

of the eggs were soiled when hens were allowed to range outside while only 11 per cent were soiled when hens were confined. In addition, hens that are kept confined, provided with plenty of fresh water, and fed a balanced ration will generally lay more eggs.

The absence of hens in vegetable gardens and flower beds is another advantage that many housewives appreciate.

It's real economy to have three pairs of shoes going at once if you possibly can. One pair at the shoe shop, one in the closet, one on your feet. This way, they all last longer and look better while they last.

Bobby Shantz Is Big Hope Of Athletics

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The sad, sad Kansas City pitching staff is looking hopefully to a pint-sized left-hander who has won just 11 games in the past three years to take over as the big winner.

If Bobby Shantz, 5 feet 6 1/4 and 130 pounds, can come back, the A's will throw their weight around the American League. They may not finish any better than their 1955 spot, sixth, but they won't be pushovers either.

Shantz was the toast of Philadelphia in 1952. He had won 24 games for the A's and had been named Most Valuable Player in the league. But on May 22, 1953, he went to the sidelines with a strained muscle in his pitching arm.

He hasn't been the same since. That year, he pitched only 106 innings. In 1954, he threw just eight innings and won one game. Last season, he began to climb the long road back and compiled a 5-10 record and a far-from-sensational 4.54 earned run average.

Last December, his arm was declared "sound" by a physician and when he signed his contract in January, he said it felt good. Shantz, now 30, has been in three games this spring. One was a bad one. He was tagged for seven runs by the Chicago White Sox in 4 2-3 innings. The other two were good. He held Milwaukee to one run in three innings, and yesterday at West Palm Beach he took his longest test, handcuffing the Washington Senators for six innings. The A's won the game 13-1.

He was ahead of the hitters most of the way and scattered seven hits while fanning five. Another big question mark, Saul Rogovin, who has been in and out of the majors for more than a decade, turned in a fine performance for Philadelphia in Clearwater. He tossed four scoreless innings against Boston and the Phillies finally won out in the 10th, 1-0 on Granny Hamner's home run.

At Tampa, the Chicago White Sox licked the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-1 with Jack Harshman giving up just four hits.

Ancient Tommy Byrne, aided by fuzzy-cheeked Ralph Terry, shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-0 for the New York Yankees at Miami. Byrne held the Brooks to two hits for six innings, and Terry, up from Denver, doled out two more the rest of the way.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians edged the New York Giants 4-3 at Tucson; the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-4 at St. Petersburg; the Chicago Cubs battered the Baltimore Orioles 10-5 at Los Angeles, and the Milwaukee Braves whipped the Detroit Tigers 5-2 at Bradenton.

Strange Strategy
DETROIT (AP)—Coach Bob Callahan came up with some strange strategy for his University of Detroit basketball team.

When midterm examinations rolled around, Callahan emphatically told his players not to go near a basketball for 10 days.

Last year Callahan drilled his team during the midterm layoff and the Titans, after compiling an impressive 13-2 mark through the first part of the season, won only two of their last 11 games.

The Cincinnati Redlegs finished fifth in the National League in 1955 but their pitchers led the loop in shutouts with 12.

Cardinals Receive Boost From Player Competition for Job

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, hottest team in the grapefruit league, received a boost from a regular battling for his job and a rookie bidding for the catcher's post in the latest of their six straight victories.

Left fielder Rip Repulski, feeling the challenge of rookie Jack Brandt, delivered a two-run single with the bases loaded to snap a seventh-inning tie in the Redbirds' 7-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Repulski had two hits and three RBI's for the game and little Hal Smith three hits in his spirited bid for the No. 1 catcher's spot. Brandt hit a long triple and drove in a run, giving him a spring average of .280 to Repulski's .212.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The NCAA, NIT, AAU and armed forces champions have their title trophies in hand and all that remains in amateur basketball this season is the task of selecting the U.S. Olympic team that will compete in Melbourne next November.

The Olympic committee has set up a three-day, four-team round robin to decide the team members at Kansas City April 2-4. Under Olympic rules, the roster will be limited to 12 men—with the round-robin winner contributing at least five but no more than seven.

The other Olympic team members will be selected by the committee from the round-robin rosters.

Each of the four teams will bring a 14-man squad to Kansas City.

The collegians are topped by All-America Bill Russell and K.C. Jones of San Francisco, which whipped Iowa 83-71 for its 55th straight victory and second consecutive NCAA title last weekend.

Louisville, which defeated Dayton 93-80 for the NIT championship Saturday, is not represented on the college roster. The Cardinals' 6-8 Charlie Tyra was the most valuable player in the NIT, but he's only a junior—and the collegiate roster is limited to seniors.

Dayton's runner-up NIT squad, however, contributes seven-foot Bill Uhl and forward Jim Paxson to the Olympic trials.

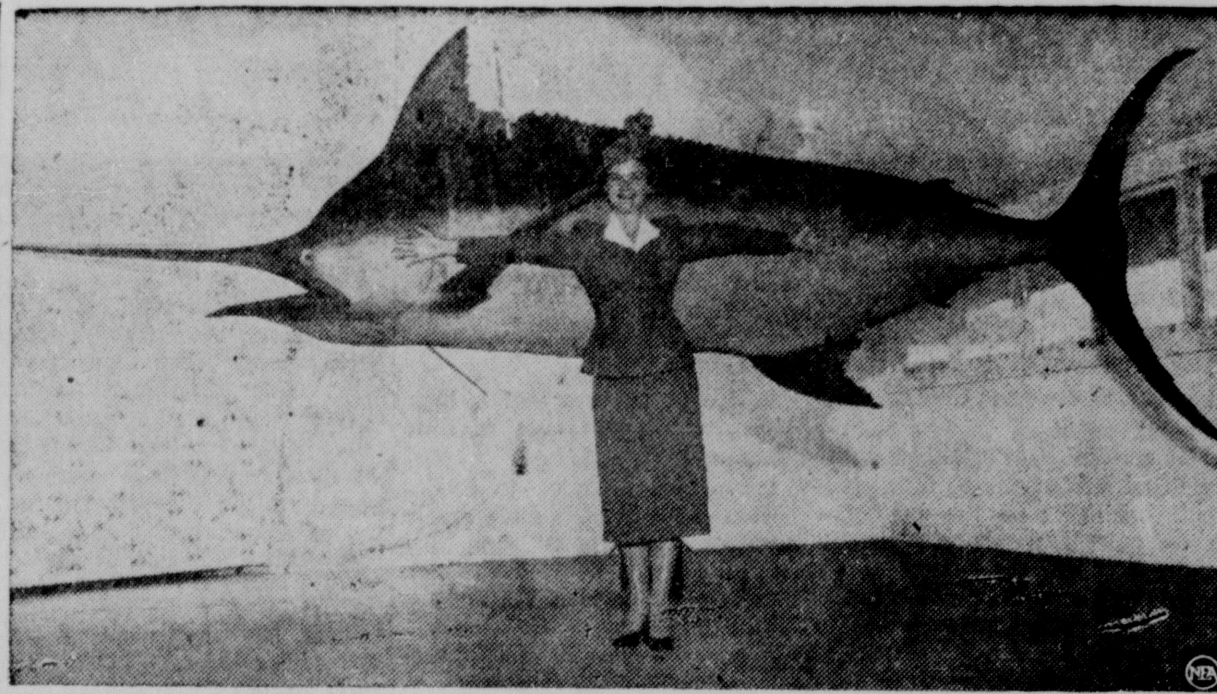

Other members of the collegiate roster are Willie Naulls, UCLA; Hal Lear, Temple; Joe Holup, George Washington; Paul Judson, Illinois; Gary Bergen, Utah; Carl Cain, Iowa; Chuck Rolles, Cornell; Bob Burrow, Kentucky; Vic Molodet, North Carolina State; and Bill Reigel, McNeese State.

The Seattle Bakers and the Bartlesville Oilers, finalists in the national tournament at Denver last weekend, will represent the AAU. Seattle defeated the defending champion Oilers 59-37 for the title.

The Air Force all-stars, coached by Bruce Drake, on leave from Oklahoma, made the Olympic playoffs by defeating Navy 78-76 for the armed forces title Saturday.

Invitational Tourney Has Champs With Cups and Tears

By ED WILKS

NEW YORK (AP)—There are champions with silver cups and champions with tears. The National Invitation Basketball Tournament had both.

The champ with the hardware was Louisville, which after four unsuccessful tries to survive the quarter-finals, finally got the idea and mastered Dayton 93-80 in Saturday's finale at Madison Square Garden.

Charlie (Moose) Tyra, a 6-8 junior with a dandy hook and smart rebounding, was the big man for the Cardinals and an unanimous choice as the NIT's most valuable player.

The champ with the tears was Dayton's Bill Uhl, a seven-foot senior and nominee for the U.S. Olympic basketball team whose biggest foe wasn't Louisville or Tyra—but himself. He has performed impressively elsewhere but never has approached his top game in the Garden—the one place he's wanted to look best of all.

Like Dayton, never a champ and four times an NIT runner-up in five chances, Uhl missed again Saturday. It may have been one of his better games in the Garden, but it was hidden in Tyra's shadow. The Louisville pivot time and again got position on Uhl to sink hook shots and get the jump on rebounds.

Tyra outscored Uhl 27-19 and outrebounded him 19-10.

Uhl felt the defeat deeply. After accepting one of the wristwatches awarded to members of both finalists, Bill returned to the bench and wept into the warmup robe he clutched in his hands. He had wanted desperately to prove himself to himself.

"I don't know what it's been," he said. "I've always hoped and tried to play my best here, but . . ."

Dayton, despite two losses to Louisville during the regular season, had been top-seeded this time, with Louisville second.

National Congress Votes to Continue Little League Series

CHICAGO (AP)—The Little League World Series, an annual affair played at Williamsport, Pa., since 1947, will continue as the feature of small fry baseball.

The first national congress of Little League Baseball Saturday rejected a committee proposal to abolish the world series and resolve tournament play at the regional level.

Those in favor of the change argued the series required too much travel, time and expense. Proponents of the world series said its discontinuance would weaken the little league organization.

Grace Kelly's Eight Bridesmaids to Wear Identical Gowns

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The eight bridesmaids at the wedding of movie star Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier of Monaco will wear identical gowns of sunlight yellow silk organdie over taffeta.

The gowns have full and fluid wide skirts and bell-shaped sleeves caught to a tiny cuff below, designers at Neiman-Marcus, Dallas specialty store, announced.

Tiny covered buttons extend from simple, small collar to a high obi sash that ties in the back with three separate bows. Flowing streamers extend from the bows.

The hats of misty hairbraids in pale-like layers repeat the pale yellow of the dresses. A small butterfly bow hovers at the back.

The four flower girls will wear white Swiss organdie embroidered with yellow and white daisies and worn over soft yellow organdie petticoats.

Kansas City A's Win Third Straight Game

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kansas City A's put together a 17-hit attack, including homers by Gus Xernial and Hector Lopez, in beating Washington 13-1 for their third straight exhibition win yesterday.

Six runs in the first inning gave the A's little Bobby Shantz lots of fat to work on as he held the Senators to seven hits in six innings.

Washington's Bob Weisler was the main victim of the hit barrage, yielding 13 in the six innings he worked.

The victory gave the A's a 7-7 record in exhibition games. They were idle today.

Kilgore, Texas Wins Junior College Cage Title, Moberly Third

HUTCHINSON (AP)—The National Junior College basketball championship belongs to Kilgore, Tex., today, thanks to a 68-65 victory over Hannibal LaGrange of Missouri in the tournament finals here Saturday night.

It was Hannibal's second year in a row as runner-up. Moberly, Mo., the defending champion, won third place with a 72-66 consolation triumph from Pueblo, Colo., which finished sixth.

New York City Tech was fourth and Graceland College of Lamoni, Iowa, seventh. Jacksonville, Fla., was fifth.

Defense Counsel Says List of Potential Witnesses Is 'Sham'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The prosecution's list of 533 potential witnesses in the murder trial of James P. Taylor has been described by defense counsel Irving Nemerov as a "sham and frivolous list."

The court-appointed defense attorney used the description in asking that the trial be postponed from its scheduled April 2 start to allow him time to examine the prospective witnesses.

Taylor is accused in a federal indictment in the slaying of Kenneth Lindbergh, cashier of a Thief River Falls, Minn., bank.

Nemerov filed two motions in Federal District Court in St. Paul. One asked continuance of the trial. The other requested certain documents relating to the witness list provided by the prosecution.

The list was given Nemerov by U.S. Dist. Atty. George MacKinnon.

In an affidavit accompanying his motions, Nemerov said the list was the longest he had ever heard about in a criminal trial. Taylor, an ex-convict formerly of Detroit was arrested Dec. 8 in Joplin, Mo.

Cape Girardeau Upsets CMSC In MIAA Meet

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—The Cape Girardeau Indians upset the favored Springfield Bears and Warrensburg Mules to win the MIAA indoor track and field championship Saturday night with 43 1/2 points.

Springfield got 39 1/2 points and Warrensburg, the defending champion, 36 1/2. Kirksville scored 26 1/2, Maryville 21 and Rolla 13.

Three records were broken. The Springfield mile relay team clipped nine-tenths of a second off a record that had stood 19 years. The Bears did it in 3:36.8.

Terry McKee, who also anchored the Bears' relay team, kept his title in the half-mile with a time of 1:57, knocking four seconds off the record he set last year.

Jim Lohr of Cape Girardeau set a new shot put mark of 45 feet 7 inches.

Bobby Case, who was Smith-Cotton's star low-hurdler before graduating last year, placed third for Warrensburg in the 60-yard low hurdles event.

Bob James, Maryville, a brother to Smith-Cotton track coach Norman James, won in the low hurdles for Maryville. James also tied for second in the high jump event.

Margaret Truman Will Wear $650 Stockings For Her Wedding

DETROIT (AP)—Hollywood hosiery expert Willys De Mond reports Margaret Truman will wear wedding stockings that cost $650 a pair.

De Mond, in Detroit on business, said each pair (Miss Truman will have three) will be decorated with 30 five-point diamond flecks. They are ultra sheer, 75 gauge hose.

De Mond already has delivered the wedding hosiery for another famed April bride-to-be, Grace Kelly. They cost $150 a pair and were hand appliqued with cultured seed and wheat pearls.

Miss Truman wears a size 10 long. De Mond said, Miss Kelly wears 9 1/2 medium.

De Mond, who annually picks Hollywood's "10 best" legs, says Miss Kelly's are near perfect, with an 8 1/2 inch ankle, 12 1/2-inch calf and 20-inch thigh. The ideal, he says, is 8 1/2, 12 1/2 and 19 1/2.

Future Construction Drops 28 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP)—Awards for future construction in Missouri during February today were reported down 28 per cent in dollar volume from February 1955.

The biggest slump was in residential construction which was reported down 44 per cent, the F. W. Dodge Corp. reported.

The construction news firm reported the first two months cumulative total for 1956 was up 4 per cent in dollar volume over the same period last year.

Proves Brawn Not Necessary In Top Golf

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gardner Dickinson Jr., who surprised even himself by winning the Miami Beach Open, is further proof that brawn is not required in championship golf.

So thin he scarcely casts a shadow standing sideways to the sun, the young Panama City, Fla., pro weighs only "about 125" with a pocketful of change.

But his steady 69 in yesterday's final round edged out by one stroke two husky members of golf's younger set—Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio.

Although Dickinson pocketed top money of $2,400 for his 16-under-par 72, the tournament probably will be best remembered as "the one Maxwell lost."

The 26-year-old Texan, never worse than a tie for first, entered the final round with a five-stroke lead over Dickinson, who was second. But a misbehaving putter helped him to a 75 and he wound up in a tie for second with Finsterwald.

The 29-year-old Finsterwald, starting seven strokes off the pace, took a course record 29 going out. He led the faltering Maxwell by one stroke and the consistent Dickinson by three strokes after 63 holes. But he soared to a 39 on the back nine for a 68.

Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, who closed with a 69, and Bob Inman of Detroit, who had a 70, tied for fourth at 275. Jimmy Demaret's par-72 was good for sixth at 276 and Leo Biagetti of Willoughby, Ohio, was next with 71 and 277.

Owners Will Enter 3-Year-Old Needles In Kentucky Derby

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Owners of the Florida-bred Needles fixed their sights on the Kentucky Derby today and said that will be the next race for their sensational 3-year-old.

Needles boosted his Kentucky Derby stock Saturday with a convincing victory in the $145,000 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park before 24,191 when he put on a customary stretch run to whip 13 other speedy colts in track record time.

He ran the mile and an eighth in 1:48 3-5, shaving a fifth of a second off the mark shared jointly by Harmonica, Battlefield and Admiral's Pride.

Needles earned $95,200 and now has a bankroll of $338,605. That compares favorably with Nashua's $402,340 at this stage of his career.

Headon Crash Ends Man's Wedding Plans

ROLLA, Mo. (AP)—A headon automobile crash ended the wedding plans of Albert Stockton, 70, of Bland, Mo. He died in Phelps County Hospital yesterday of his injuries.

Stockton and his bride-to-be, Mrs. Bertha McKinney, 72, were being driven to Linn for the ceremony Saturday afternoon. At the wheel was her son, Andrew McKinney of Union, Mo., and his wife, Esther.

Coming from the other direction was a car driven by Terry Sullinger, 15, of Bland. The Highway Patrol said he was passing a car on the crest of a hill when he hit the McKinney car headon.

Mrs. Bertha McKinney was hurt seriously.

High Scorers In Annual All-Star Tilt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A West team anchored by Bill Russell of San Francisco and an East squad that includes high-scoring Darrell Floyd of Furman met tonight in the fifth annual Ararat Shrine All-star Basketball game.

The tilt is expected to attract a capacity crowd of 10,000 to Municipal Auditorium.

If there's a favorite, it's the West on the basis of Russell's presence in the lineup. Russell, who just got through leading San Francisco to its second straight NCAA championship, is regarded as one of the greatest collegiate defensive goal tenders of all time.

Playing with him will be San Francisco teammate K. C. Jones. But Floyd and his fellow easterners should give them a busy evening. Floyd averaged 33.5 points for Furman. On the same team are Julius McCoy, Michigan State's lefthander, who averaged 27.9; Joe Holup, George Washington, 25.0; and Si Green, Duquesne, 24.7.

The West, coached by Floyd Stahl of Ohio State, also will offer a great scorer in Robin Freeman, who averaged 32.4 points for Ohio State last winter; Art Bunte of Utah, 21.6; and Russell, 20.6.

The East is coached by Lyles Alloy of Furman.

Tipoff time is 10 p. m. (eastern standard time). Two women AAU teams will meet in a preliminary tilt. The game will benefit the Shriner's hospitals for crippled children.

Seattle and Phillips' Teams to Join AAU Veterans in Playoffs

DENVER (AP)—Top performers of the recent collegiate season will join veteran AAU players with Seattle's Buchan Bakers and the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., in the Olympic playoffs at Kansas City April 2-4.

The 10-man teams who played for Seattle and Phillips in the just concluded National AAU tournament here will be bolstered by eight other tournament performers for the playoffs.

Seattle, 59-57 surprise winner over defending champion Phillips for the tourney title, strengthened its roster with Dick Boushka, 6-5, of Wichita Vickers; S. L. Shofner, 6-3, of Akron Goodyear; Dick Eicher, 6-5, of Denver Central Bank; and Terry Rand, 6-9, of Marquette, who played for Allen-Bradley of Milwaukee, 4th place tournament finisher.

Phillips picked up Jerry Harper, 6-7, and George Linn, 6-3, seniors from the University of Alabama, who played in the tournament for Ada Oilers of Mobile; Jim Bond, 6-5, Pasadena Nazarene College, who played for Pasadena Mirror Glaze in the tourney; and Dick Miller, 6-1, Wisconsin star who played for Milwaukee.

Adopts Six Rules Changes In Basketball

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Basketball Committee, rules-making body for colleges and high schools, adopted six rules revisions in winding up a two-day meeting yesterday.

The committee voted to extend the 12-foot free throw lane to high schools in the 1957-58 season and approved proposals on five minor rule changes.

Among these was a rule used by the Western Conference this year where the defensive team assumes both positions under the basket on a free throw instead of the home - and - visiting team setup.

Players in the future will no longer be able to leap into the free throw lane until the ball hits the backboard or cylinder. Previously a player could jump into the lane so long as his foot was not on the floor until the ball made contact.

Another revision was making the free throw line two inches instead of one to make all court lines uniform and to make the boundaries of the three second rule easier to distinguish.

The committee also placed a restriction on the jump ball and no player may have his foot within the circle until the ball is tapped.

The final revision concerned activity under a team's basket. No offensive player in the future may reach above the cylinder to guide an attempted shot by a teammate into the basket.

This change is similar to the rule under which a defensive player cannot reach up and knock a ball out of the basket.

The committee emphasized the new rule has nothing to do with the "dunk" shot—where a player leaps above the cylinder and pushes the ball through. The new rule applies only to guiding a teammate's shot into the basket.

The committee pointed out if a player is obviously looping a pass to a teammate above the cylinder, the new rule does not apply.

The committee discussed the five - second rule said it obvious stalling tactics do not cease, the rule will be revised to carry a penalty.

Communist Organizer Fired for Failing On Indoctrination

MOSCOW (AP)—The chief Communist organizer of Tiflis University has been fired for failing to indoctrinate the students with communism successfully and for failing to wipe out national and racial pride.

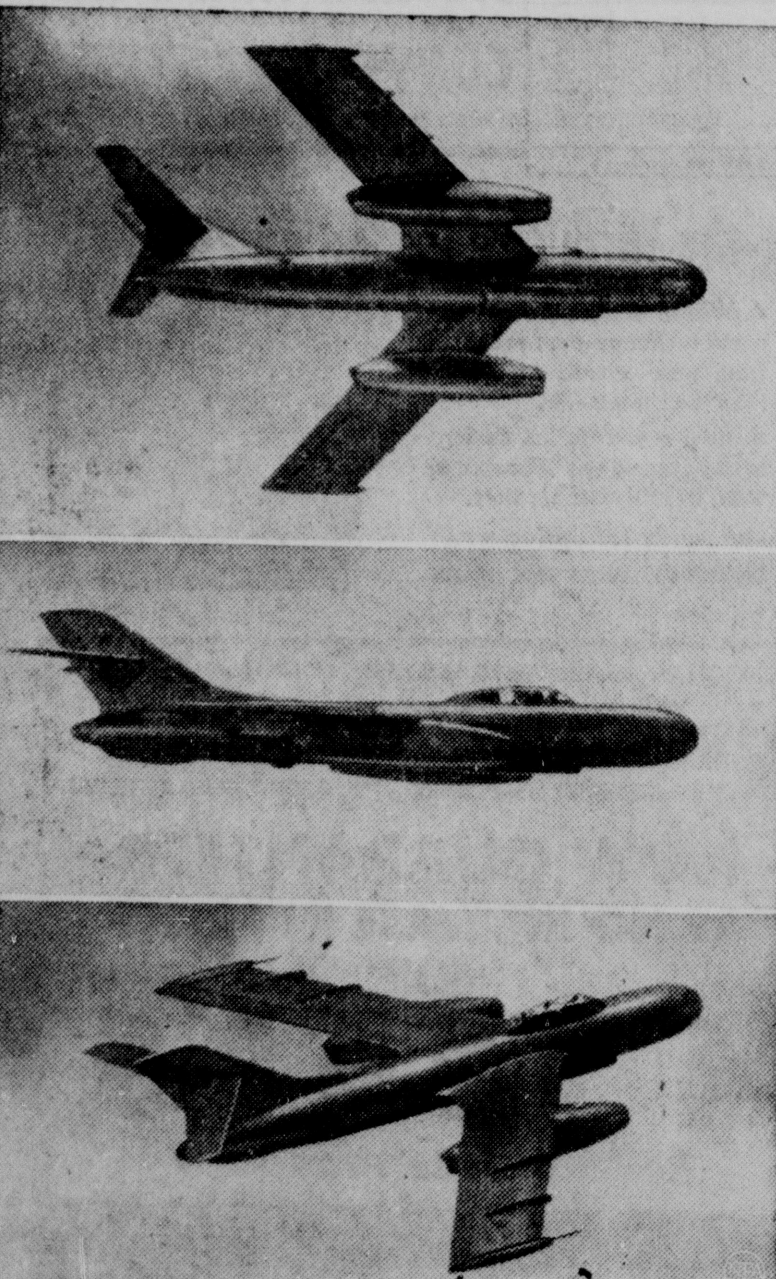

This was disclosed in the March 24 issue of the Tiflis newspaper, "Dawn on the East," which reached Moscow today.

The firing of the university Communist cell's party secretary, S. Djorbenadz, was revealed in an article which said also that the students had indulged in mass cutting of their classes in Marxism-Leninism and dialectical materialism since last September.

Finds Sadism Has Increased In the Movies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee said today it had found increasing emphasis on "sadism, brutality and violence" in the movies.

In a report on "Motion Pictures and Juvenile Delinquency," the subcommittee said the movies along with comic books and television "have a tremendous influence on the young child in his early development."

"While once again, as with the comic books and television, no wealth of scientific data can be given as a causal relationship between delinquent behavior and the mass media," the report said, "it is quite clear that professional people generally view the presentation of brutality and violence in these media as definitely deleterious to the personality development of normal, pre-delinquent and delinquent children."

The subcommittee said it was advised that motion pictures "could provide the many so-called 'trigger mechanisms' that may initiate and provide the content for antisocial behavior on the part of emotionally disturbed children."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), the subcommittee chairman, said in a statement the report "culminates a year of intensive study" by the group.

"Once the industry realized that we were not concerned with the entire motion picture output, but only those pictures that dwelled on brutality, violence, sadism and crime, they quickly joined with us in taking a critical look at a certain portion of their product," Kefauver said.

The report said "it is honestly

Smith-Cotton News—Future Teachers Association Holds Meeting on Thursday

By Bob Mason and Nancy Oswald

This past Thursday, March 22, the Future Teachers of America at Smith-Cotton held a meeting. After the customary business had been transacted, Miss Hazel Gray addressed the group. Some highlights of her talk included a summary of her visits to various places when she was awarded the Ford Fellowship Award. This award included a year long trip during which she visited many schools in towns and cities throughout the United States. She then pointed out various qualities which she considered constituted an efficient teacher.

A speech tournament was held at Springfield Saturday, March 17. At the tournament Wayne Brown and Tony Walsh won two debates. They succeeded in defeating McBride of St. Louis and Central of Springfield. They lost only one debate, that being to William Christman who won the tournament. In individual events, Smith-Cotton was well represented but none won out the field. The speech instructor at Smith-Cotton is Miss Anna Sawford.

On Tuesday, March 20, Bob Bates, Janice Fowler, Marilyn Kelley and Janice Ringen were chosen by the remainder of the National Honor Society to take a scholarship examination sponsored by that group. These students all have exceptional grade and conduct records and are all active participants in school sponsored activities. The National Honor Society sponsor at Smith-Cotton is Miss Edna Snell.

The Smith-Cotton chapter of National Honor Society held a called meeting on March 22. This meeting was attended by all members. At this time the Honor Society as a group voted to donate $100 to the American Field Service in order that Smith-Cotton might have two foreign exchange students in her halls next year.

Many girls of the Senior Class volunteered to work on a Tag Day drive for funds this past Saturday March 17. These girls met at 10 a.m. for instructions and then luncheon at the hotel. The rest of the afternoon, until 4 p.m. was spent in collecting donations. All money collected went to the Crippled Children's Society. These girls should be given credit for performing a very worthy civic duty.

The Letterman's Club held a call meeting Friday morning, March 23. During the meeting plans were made for the annual "L" Club banquet, this year to be held on Friday, April 13. Various committees were appointed to plan the program as well as to decide upon a menu and decorations. "Sparky" Stalcup, basketball coach at University of Missouri will address the club.

Also during this meeting further plans were made concerning the inter-class basketball tournament. This tournament is a competition between the classes at Smith-Cotton. To be eligible to play on a class team a student may not have participated in a varsity game.

This round of games is always looked forward to by all classes, all of them striving for the championship. The time of the games will be announced in a short while, an unofficial date is Monday and Tuesday, March 26, 27. More will be announced concerning this later! The "L" Club sponsor is Forrest Arnall.

On April 5 the Junior high intramural plays are to be held in the Smith-Cotton auditorium. At this time the eighth grades and freshmen will present their class play. The eighth grade play cast was recently chosen by the director, Karen Crosslin, and the stage manager, Janice Ringen. It consists of Jon Waller, Bill Herse, Richard Wertz, Stan Jones, Kay Burke, Bonnie Morris and Myrna Bolch. This class is ardently polishing up its play under the sponsorship of Miss Nellie White.

The freshmen class also is busy working on its play. The director is Judy Rangland and stage manager Mary Schofer has recently announced their play cast. It includes Leroy Street, Hugh Jones, De Anna Blaylock, Sherry Stauffer, Owen Anderson, Teddy Walch and Sandra Rossman. The Freshmen play is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Elizabeth Yurasich.

Children Die After Eating Rat Poison

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Two young children died yesterday after apparently eating rat poison they found while rummaging through a kitchen cupboard in their home.

Coroner Loren Bates ordered an autopsy to fix the exact cause of death of Daniel Robb, 5, and his sister Judy, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Robb.

Police said the youngsters found the poison while their parents were sleeping. When Robb and his wife awoke, they found Daniel's clothing smeared with the goosy mixture. Robb, thinking Daniel only had eaten the poison, rushed him to a hospital. The boy died there.

The father returned home and learned Judy had become ill. She was taken to the hospital. She died a few hours later.

Armed Bandit Robs Bowling Alley, Ties 68-Year-Old Clerk

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A bandit armed with a butcher knife beat a 68-year-old clerk, left him tied to a post for 11 hours and robbed a safe in a bowling alley yesterday.

John W. Higgins, who lives at the bowling alley, told police he was asleep in the office when a man awakened him, forced him to open a safe, took $170 and tied his arms around a post.

Higgins said he broke loose and started to run but the bandit caught him, beat him and bound him to the post again with shoe laces. A pinboy reporting for work found him. He was treated for cuts.

Negro Mob Beats Two White Men After Shooting

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Two white men were beaten by a mob of angry Negroes before five carloads of officers scattered the attackers yesterday. The incident followed the shooting of a Negro man.

Police said the most seriously hurt were Johnnie J. Maloy, 50, white, and Foster King, 34, a Negro whom Maloy shot in a leg. Maloy suffered a brain concussion and compound fracture of one leg. The officers gave this account of the incident:

Maloy and Hillary Calhoun, 41, were selling oranges from a truck in a Negro section. Maloy and King became involved in an argument when Maloy accused a Negro of stealing a crate of oranges. The trucker pulled a pistol and shot King in the leg.

The shooting drew a crowd of Negroes and one of them, Love Andrews, 29, snatched the gun from Maloy. Then the Negroes attacked the two white men.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Hamp Gandy said the Negroes stopped beating the truckers when police arrived.

He said charges are planned against both Maloy and King when they leave the hospital.

Andrews was jailed on a charge of affray. Calhoun was arrested on the same count and freed on $100 bond.

Texas Governor Says He Would Head Delegates

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers said yesterday he would be happy to head the Texas Democratic delegation to the national convention even if it means competing with Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) for the chairmanship.

The governor declined to say whether he would back the U.S. Senate majority leader for the Democratic presidential nomination, and named only Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio as one he could support.

Shivers replied "I am not ready to say" to repeated questions on the national television network program Meet the Press about whether he would support Johnson.

Panelist Jack Bell of The Associated Press asked Shivers to name a Democrat he could support for the Democratic nomination.

"I probably could name several," Shivers replied. "Lausche, for instance, but I can't name any others at the present time."

Denying that he has any "political ambitions," Shivers said he would be "happy to serve" if the state convention names him to head its delegation to the Chicago convention.

He replied "yes, it would" to a question if this would hold true if he were in competition with Johnson for chairman of the delegation.

Ladies, Here Is a Bachelor Who Owns an Oil Company

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—This being Leap Year, ladies, I thought you might like to know about a particular bachelor with an unusual story.

His name is Martin Lerman. He is 25, tall, slim, dark and handsome, with an engaging—no pun intended—personality, which is an important part of his story, and, for a young fellow just getting started, his prospects look pretty bright.

He owns an oil company.

Now they tell me it is always a good idea to get a man talking (A) about himself and (B) about his work. And if a girl can come in here and there with a knowledgeable comment, so much the better. So here is young Lerman's story—

He was a sophomore at Washington U. in St. Louis when, during the Christmas holidays of 1952, his father entertained at dinner. One of the guests was a Greek, a former resident of Athens. He began talking about oil.

He told about the island of Zante, in the Ionian Sea, where perhaps the oldest producing oil field in the world is located. The historians, Pliny and Herodotus, described the lake of pitch which is there. It may be that the ships that carried the Greek army to Troy to rescue fair Helen were calked with pitch from Zante. They probably used it, too, for their fearsome siege weapon, "Greek fire."

"I was fascinated," Lerman says.

He went back to college but he didn't do much studying, that is, on his classroom subjects. He began reading about oil. He wrote to Greece for information about Zante. His geology professor helped him understand the technical terms.

That was the end of his regular college days. He had planned to study business law and perhaps join his father's machinery and steel-brokerage firm in St. Louis. Instead, at 21, he left college.

Westinghouse, Electricians Sign Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top officials of the independent United Electrical Workers and Westinghouse Electric Corp. agreed last night on a five-year contract to end a 153-day strike.

Membership ratification is needed but James J. Matles, UE director of organization, says he is recommending acceptance.

The pact does not settle a local strike of 6,000 UE members at the firm's South Philadelphia plant. They walked out last Oct. 14, protesting a proposed change in wage payment plans.

The contract covers 3,200 at eight Westinghouse plants where the UE has representation. Terms of the agreement also would be applied to workers in Philadelphia once their local dispute is settled.

Westinghouse said economic clauses in the contract are the same as that signed with the 44-determined to drill for oil on Zante.

000-member AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers ended a 156-day strike.

Negotiations aimed at bringing peace to the big turbine-producing plant in Philadelphia will be resumed there today.

The union locals at the eight other plants will vote tomorrow on acceptance of the national agreement. It calls for a minimum hourly wage increase of 25 cents during the pact's life.

The workers formerly averaged $2.10 an hour.

The pact provides wage increases of from 5 to 17 cents an hour the first year and 5 to 12 cents an hour each of the next four years. In addition, skilled workers will get an immediate hourly increase ranging from one half to 12 cents.

A cost of living clause calls for a 1-cent hourly pay increase for each half-point rise in the Department of Labor cost of living index. Improved pensions and vacations also are provided.

Unlike the UE pact the UE contract does not incorporate any provisions for setting production standards for day workers or salaried workers. No UE employee is subject to discipline for strike action.

Plants affected by the UE agreement are the Nuttall works in Pittsburgh; Derby, Pa.; Jersey City, N.J.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Detroit; Chicago; Emeryville, Calif.; and Seattle, Wash.

The lady used to jam all of her clothes together in her closet. Then she found out they didn't last long. Now, she gives them air and space, hangs them up carefully and gets much more wear from them.
